

Animal Control Services

Some cities manage their own animal control agencies, while other cities have contracts with a specific shelter to provide certain services to residents within their contracted jurisdictions. These agencies may provide housing for stray animals and care for lost pets until they can be returned to their owners, and some provide additional animal control services. If you have found an animal or lost a pet, contact the facility in your area for assistance. Because pets can wander, if you are searching for a lost pet it is recommended that you also contact other nearby Animal Control Services.

Homeward Pet Adoption Center does not provide Animal Control Services and does not take in stray or found animals.

If you need assistance with a loose animal, or have concerns about animal cruelty, call your local Police Department. Always exercise caution when interacting with an unfamiliar animal, and never attempt to catch an animal that is behaving aggressively. In an emergency, dial 911.
